The West Cabin is a small storage building with two windows, two beds, table, chairs located on the east edge of the west tract of OMBS. It is about 0.8 mile, via the West Cabin Trail, from Nuthatch. It is kept locked unless it is needed and can be used for storage of equipment or supplies for research projects in that area.
